

Microphone

The microphone detects noise, sounds and music and converts them to an electronic signal for a computer to understand.

Printer

A machine that copies your work from the computer to paper.

A printer can print photographs, text, images and web pages etc

